CHINESE BECOME SOCIAL PIONEERS

Men and Women Form Good Fellowship Club Together Under Y. W. C. A. Leadership.

The Good Fellowship Club has made its appearance in society in Hangehow, China.

It began with the desire of a progressive young Chinese doctor to give his compatriots, especially the Christians, some healthful form of social intercourse.

Channels for a good, clean, social life among Chinese people are very limited. Until recently becoming a Christian often meant cutting oneself off from one's friends and relatives, also from feast days and festivals. As for joint meetings of men and women—well, such a thing was never heard of in decent society.

The young doctor's plan of having a club where men and their wives might come together to enjoy a good time with each other was discouraged and snuffed at. However, a few people agreed to be pioneers in the cause of social intercourse, and Y. W. C. A. secretaries agreed to help make the club a success.

At first the meetings of the club were laughed at by outsiders and the whole affair considered a joke. However, the members kept on meeting, first at one house and then at another. Soon the men got over the feeling of strangeness at starting out with their wives on Tuesday evening for a friend's home. The women began to enjoy the outing and to take part in the discussions—an intelligent part, too—much to the surprise of their husbands.

The membership grew. The club's fame began to spread. At first the discussions of the club were conducted in English. Soon it became necessary for them to be carried on in Chinese so that more of the women could understand and take part. Many of the scoffers began to apply for admission. The members began indulging in much friendly chaffing and occasionally forgot their dignity to play jokes on one another. Finally it became so large that it had to be divided into two sections, which met separately three Tuesday evenings in the month and on the fourth Tuesday met together for a joint session, with a special program.

Students just returned from American and German colleges, an old Buddhist scholar who is particularly interested in the discussion on Buddhism and Christianity, merchants, railroad and government officials compose the men's side of the room. The women are still a bit shy about talking in front of so many people, but many of them show signs of great executive ability and power of leadership. They are all well poised, clear thinking individuals, who will have a great influence on China's future. They discuss among themselves group meetings in their various churches, the lack of amusements for Chinese women, social service work, subscription lists for the orphanage, cake making, types of stoves, baby diets, the latest engagement and other topics such as one would hear discussed by a group of women gathered together any place in America.

The social part of the evening is given over to games, which at first astounded the sober Chinese gentlemen, but which they take up with great zest after the first evening. And their wives enjoy it just as greatly.

Real American parties are the latest thing which the club has tried, and they are a great success. A Christmas play is being planned now.

ENGLISH IS COMMON TONGUE.

Chinese Girls Learn to Talk to One Another.

Chinese women students in the Tung Fu College, Peking, China, are obliged to learn English in order to talk with one another because of the different dialects used by the student body.

Girls from the extreme western provinces of China, who attend the school, must remain in Peking during all of the eight years required for their high school and college training, because to return each summer would require six weeks for the trip one way and would cost more than a trip to America and return.

Girls from each of the western provinces speak a different language and they cannot understand one another any more than they can the girls from northern, southern, eastern or central provinces. Hence, they have adopted English as a common tongue.

NEW SCHOOL FOR CHINA.

Y. W. C. A. Secures New Site for Girls' Physical Training School.

A new home has been found for the Physical Training School which the Young Women's Christian Association has opened for native girls in Shanghai, China.

The school, while in the country, is not far distant from the National Headquarters of the Y. W. C. A. in Shanghai nor far from the local Y. W. C. A. The grounds cover eighteen "mow," which means approximately six acres, and are divided by a private road. A foreign residence already on the grounds will be used by the American teachers, while native buildings on the other side will furnish living quarters and classrooms for the 35 students.

The grounds boast a garden, tennis courts and an athletic field.

R. G. GAILBREATH GOES TO MIAMI, FLA.

It is a matter of sincere regret to the Times as well as to our people in general that Mr. R. J. Gailbreath, for 16 years the efficient and courteous auditor of the Gainesboro Telephone and Telegraph Co., has resigned and will go to Miami, Fla., to accept a similar position there.

During the years that he has been with the Gainesboro people, the Times has had a great many business transactions with Mr. Gailbreath and always with pleasure. As a man, a friend we esteem him very highly and it is with genuine sorrow that we lose him. We trust that he may prosper in his new field.

We understand that Mrs. Gailbreath and little Jack will remain here awhile longer to follow Mr. Gailbreath later, when he can secure a house to live in.—The Carroll County Times, Carrollton Ga.

Personally we regret very much that Mr. R. J. Gailbreath has seen fit to move from Carrollton. He is a jovial, big hearted, broad-minded, deep-thinking man—a man whose ability and diplomacy is worth much to the community in which he lives. Its a distinct loss to any town to lose such a man as Mr. Gailbreath's calibre. We wish him well.—Carroll Free Press, Carrollton, Ga.

At a meeting of the directors of the Gainesboro Telephone & Telegraph Co., the resolutions below, were adopted expressing their regret at giving Mr. Gailbreath up and their appreciation of his services to the company during the past 16 years as Auditor.

Whereas, Mr. R. J. Gailbreath, since February 26, 1904, the Auditor of this Company, has resigned to accept a similar position with the South Atlantic Telephone & Telegraph Company of Miami, Florida, and,

Whereas, Mr. Gailbreath as Auditor and Assitant Treasurers has been faithful in the performance of his duties and in his intercourse with the officers and directors of this company has deservedly won their confidence and friendship, and, we believe the confidence and the friendship of the citizens of Carrollton generally;

Be it resolved that the Board accepts his resignation with regret, and wishes for him the fullest measure of prosperity and success with the company to which he goes from us.

A. MAUPIN,
J. A. MANDEVILLE,
A. D. LEONARD,

Colored Wedding.

A wedding which will be of interest to the white, as well as to the colored population, was that of our good old darkey, "uncle" Fate Walker, to "aunt" Laura Jackson, a good old-time black mama, who has been making her home in Indianapolis for the past 40 years. She came to Gainesboro only a few weeks ago to visit her white friends here, and the groom had been making his presence known every since, what you might call love at first sight. The wedding took place Thursday night at the residence of R. A. Montgomery, J. P., who, in a brief and impressive way, pronounced them husband and wife.

Benefits of Co-operative Marketing.

Cooperative marketing is on a boom in Lawrence County as a result of a shipment of livestock recently made. Hugo Geots, of Lawrenceburg, says that altho the market dropped from the time that the load left the Lawrenceburg depot until it reached the market, the farmers still made money by saving the commission that they would have paid to a dealer, had the load been sold to a local man.

G. C. Wright, county agent of Lawrence county, has assisted the farmers in cooperative shipment of livestock, and in making purchases of farm supplies. They have arranged for the cooperative purchase of 1200 bushels of soy beans for $2.30 a bushel, against $5 a bushel on the local market. They will purchase 75 bushels of crimson clover seed at a saving of $3 a bushel, and 200 bushel of rye at a saving of $0.72 a bushel. Thus they will effect a saving of $3,605.

From numerous sections of the state come reports of increased net returns from cooperative sales, and savings in purchases. The cooperative plan of buying and selling is as profitable to farmers as cooperation in the conduct of schools, churches and other recognized community enterprises.

A RAT THAT DIDN'T SMELL AFTER BEING DEAD FOR THREE MONTHS.

"I swear it was dead at least three months," said James Sykes, Butcher, Westfield, N. J. "We saw this rat every day. Put a cake of RAT SNAP behind a barrel. Months later my wife asked about the rat. Remembered the barrel, looked behind it. There was the rat—dead, not the slightest odor." Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by Anderson & Haile, M. P. Bailey & Son, Quarles & McCawley Co., Gainesboro.

MILLARD YOUNG SHOT AND INSTANTLY KILLED BY LEE NETHERTON SATURDAY NIGHT—PRELIMINARY TRIAL HELD WEDNESDAY—ALLOWED DOND.

Millard Young was shot and killed by Lee Netherton Saturday night about eight o'clock near the home of Matt Keith's, five miles southeast of Gainesboro. Netherton was arrested Sunday morning at the home of his father, Will Netherton on Aarons Branch and brought to Gainesboro and placed in jail. The warrant on which he which he was arrested charges him with murder in the first degree, which he denies.

The preliminary trial was held before G. L. Dudney and W. B. Flynn, Justices of the Peace, Wednesday afternoon. Chester Young, brother of the deceased, stated on the witness stand, that he and his brother, Millard went to Keith's house shortly after dark Saturday, and after talking for a time, left with the intention of going home, as they left the house, Netherton, who was present, accompanied them to the yard and told Millard he wanted to speak with him. They went a short distance from the house and Netherton told Millard that he (Millard) accused him (Netherton) of stealing a still, but that he didn't, but told another person where it was and that person he told stole it.

Millard told Netherton that he didn't want to have anything more to do with him, and if he had a pistol to not draw it or he would take it away from him. Netherton then turned and went toward the house and as he done so, told them (Millard and Chester) if they come down the road he would kill both of them. Chester told him he was coming if lived. Netherton disappeared from view, and as he (Chester) neared the house he saw Netherton come in view with a gun. He made a dash from him and about the same time the gun fired and in a few seconds he heard his brother Millard, who was behind him, fall. He grappled with Netherton, knocking the gun up causing the other load to be discharged in the air. Netherton puching him in the face with the gun as they clinched. They fell to the ground together when some came up and pulled him off of Netherton.

Netherton did not take the stand. His bond was fixed at $7,500, which has not been made.

The state is represented by P. J. Anderson; the defendant by H. Grady Grady and D. B. Johnson.

Young leaves a wife and seven children.
